Excellence in Teaching Award

At our April program meeting, Joshua Hernandez, a bilingual science teacher at Santa Teresa Middle School, was awarded the 15th Annual Lorraine Schulte Excellence in Teaching Award. Mr. Hernandez uses inquiry-based science activities to improve his students’ problem-solving skills, and this spring he has had his students create their own portfolios about the various ecosystems in the state of New Mexico. Since the majority of his students are classified as English Language Learners, he incorporates many language arts lessons into his teaching, and he has used the Audubon Adventures classroom kits as a resource for his students’ work in both science and language arts.

Bird-a-thon 2012

As announced in the recent Audubon New Mexico newsletter, our annual Bird-a-thon fundraiser will be held during the first 2 weeks of May. Several board members and officers are having a friendly competition to see who can see the most species, and who can raise the most funds, during this year’s event. For more information on how to pledge your support, or how to create your own Bird-a-thon team, contact Nancy Stotz at 575-521-8087 or nstotz1@comcast.net.

MVAS Awards Scholarship

The Mesilla Valley Audubon Society scholarship committee announces Forrest East as the 2012 Richard Bischoff Memorial Scholarship winner. Mr. East is a Master's student conducting research in the Center for Applied Spatial Ecology at New Mexico State University.

This year the MVAS scholarship winner's research addresses the effects conservation practices may have on wildlife habitat, specifically Scaled Quail, by modeling changes in habitat based on predictions of state-and-transition models. These models may improve our knowledge and predictive capabilities of how plants respond to disturbances. The aim is to use the predictability of the models to project probable plant distributions after a conservation practice is implemented. Forrest East is a Graduate Research Assistant in the Department of Fisheries, Wildlife and Conservation Ecology at NMSU. The scholarship will provide support to validate his models by conducting field work.

Contributions to the MVAS scholarship fund are accepted at any time; checks, made out to MVAS, should be mailed to the MVAS Scholarship Fund, P.O. Box 1645, Las Cruces, NM 88004.

Las Cruces Tour of Gardens

The Las Cruces Tour of Gardens will be held May 5, from 9 AM to 5 PM. The Tour has long been a generous supporter of MVAS's Audubon Adventures program. They are looking for volunteers to work 2-hour shifts. If you're interested, contact Beulah Oyler at 522-0143.

Mesilla Valley Audubon Society, a chapter of the National Audubon Society, is a conservation and natural history organization in southern New Mexico that promotes appreciation and conservation of birds, other wildlife, and habitat, through environmental education, issue advocacy, and natural history experiences.

Board meetings are held monthly, on the Thursday before the 3rd Wednesday at 5:30 PM at the Southwest Environmental Center (on the downtown mall). All Audubon members are welcome.
